Report on Constitution Day Celebrated on 26 November 2016

National Constitution Day, also known as Samvidhan Divas was celebrated at Shri M.P.Shah Arts and Science College Surendranagar on 26 – 11- 2016. More than 150 students attended this program which was conducted in room no. 45. The whole program was coordinated by Mr. J.M.Rathod – faculty in Political Science. The purpose to conduct this program was bringing awareness among the students about the constitution of India and its significance in the life of Indian citizens. The program began with prayer and lamp lighting session. Mr. J . M. Rathod gave fundamental understanding of the Constitution to the students in simple and clear manner. The students found it interesting and also asked questions on the difference between duties and rights of Citizens. The students, at the end of the session, were well acquainted with the fundamental duties and fundamental rights of Indian citizens.

In the end, Principal of the College Dr. S.U.Vora addressed the students and encouraged them to be contributors of the nation by offering their duties in the welfare of the nation. It was a successful program attended by students and staff members of Arts and Science stream. The efforts of the coordinator of this program were appreciated by the principal of the college.
